Welcome

Throughout my time at BIMM Music Institute Dublin – from starting in 2011 to taking up the role of College Principal in 2014 – I’ve been lucky to see how the college has become the unique and genuine creative hub we always hoped it would be. I am proud to see that the focus we have put on creativity and artistry over the years is paying off. Students are creating brilliant work through performance, composition and production. I’m also pleased to see the achievements of our alumni in the other area that we place a major focus on: the ‘business’ side of the music industry. We feel it is vital to instil a sense of enterprise in our students because they are the new music industry. In other words, they are not just joining the music industry – they are creating a new one. It is a privilege to play a part in this and to witness first-hand so many of our students launching successful careers in music and the creative industries.

BIMM Dublin is a place where kindred spirits from all backgrounds can connect, communicate, and collaborate. It’s a place where you can discover new genres and areas of innovation. It’s also a place where it’s okay to feel a little out of your comfort zone because that’s when real creative instincts begin to emerge.

We continue with this approach, particularly with the introduction of the new Music Production stream into our BA Commercial Modern Music course. In addition to our lecturers involvement in developing this stream content we also sought and considered input from many industry experts to ensure that we are taking the most up-to-date and relevant sector requirements into account.

From my own experience of being involved in the music industry all my working life – as a musician, working in a record company, as an artist manager, and also my decade of working in music education – I can confidently say that the creative output and the music industry in Ireland over recent years have never been healthier. The last few years have been testing for everyone on many levels.

The creative industries, in particular, have had to dive deeper into their innovative wells to navigate a course through the pandemic. In my view, the music industry is ever changing and so it should be.

Studying at BIMM Dublin – whether on a diploma course, an undergraduate course, or a postgraduate course – gives students the best opportunity to gain the required knowledge and experience to play a part as the music industry grows healthier, wiser, even more creative, innovative, and more entrepreneurial than before and I, for one, am really looking forward to that!

BIMM Music Institute Dublin

Who we are

BIMM Music Institute Dublin is a community. It's where creative people belong.

You bring the talent and the energy, we'll help you build a network that you can build a career on. But don't take our word for it. Just consider the list of prolific alumni that have walked through our doors: Fontaines D.C., IDLES, Ella Mai, Gemma Bradley, Natasha Bent, George Ezra and others. These musicians are now at the forefront of an ever-evolving industry. And there's room for you too.

From day one, you'll join our thriving creative environment. Our renowned lecturers are all active in the industry and boast a wealth of experience that feeds into your academic studies. Alongside your lectures and tutorials, we put on a range of masterclasses with industry giants every year – so you get to hear directly from the people you most admire.

You'll have access to industry-standard facilities, countless professional connections and unrivalled performance and work opportunities. Our wide network of colleges also provides unique opportunities for you to collaborate with others working in music, performing arts, and film.

But university is about more than your course. Every city where BIMM is located has a vibrant music scene bursting with venues, talent and opportunities. By joining us, you'll not only be connected to the local scene, you'll also make friends for life, be exposed to new creative communities, join many clubs and so much more.

Your music career starts here. Are you ready?

This is your music industry

How will you shape it?

A new future is dawning. There’s arguably no better time than now to join an industry that never stops, only evolves.

Reel off names like The Beatles, Bob Dylan, The Who, Joni Mitchell, Fleetwood Mac, Sex Pistols, David Bowie, U2, NWA, Madonna, Sinead O’ Connor, Nirvana, Dr. Dre, Beyoncé, Billie Eilish, Taylor Swift, Lizzo, Stormzy, Arlo Parks, Big Thief, Kendrick Lamar, Harry Styles, Fontaines D.C, Dermot Kennedy and YUNGBLUD, and a picture starts to emerge of music professionals using creativity to shift the musical landscape and move the needle culturally. If the past has taught us anything about music, it’s that it rises, fights back and speaks up.

Throughout history, music has represented generation after generation. It blazes a trail for the next wave of creators, game-changers and music-makers. This is the medium through which icons and innovators can have their voices heard.

Now, it’s your turn to rise.

The creative arts and Europe’s music industry are about to become bigger and better than ever. The tapestry of career paths is ready for new layers, textures and expansion.

If music is what you want to do, now is the time to get involved in recorded music; live music; publishing; artist management; studio production and engineering; entrepreneurship; establishing a portfolio career; or becoming an artist, performer or musician. These roles collaborate and work together to make Europe’s music industry the envy of the world.

At BIMM Music Institute Dublin, these roles thrive in a collaborative environment that’s bursting with endless creativity. Step through our doors and start your life in music.

“I can pass my passion for music on to the next generation of musicians.”

Ema Stapleton
— BIMM Dublin tutor and graduate

Carlos O’Connell
— Fontaines D.C. guitarist and BIMM Dublin graduate

“My course really helped progress my career in the music industry... I had the opportunity to build my network through guest lectures and different events.”

— Diploma in Music Business graduate

Our industry partnerships

Industry engagement is at the centre of everything we do. At BIMM Music Institute, you'll find unparalleled industry connections everywhere you turn and a vast range of work experience and industry placements that give you exposure to influential events and people.

Because we take such an industry-focused approach, we can change with the times and match industry movements. We collaborate with incredible names like Spotify, Sony, EMI, Sentric Music, The Great Escape, PRS for Music, Warner Music, Universal Music, Liverpool Sound City, DIY Magazine, ATC Management, Alive Network, SAM Music Service, Read Audio, Reeperbahn Festival, Tru Thoughts, AIM, UK Music, BBC Introducing, and 2000trees Festival.

We also source exclusive paid roles and unite with industry experts on prestigious networking and creative events. By engaging with the industry in this way, we're giving you the chance to meet your future employer before you've even graduated.

Check out some of our best partnerships and opportunities.

We have partnered with Ticketmaster Ireland to ensure the smooth running of the Box Offices at events and venues around Ireland. This includes the major theatres (Gaiety, Bord Gais, Olympia), music venues (Academy, Vicar St), sporting events (Aviva, RDS, Croke Park, Thomond Park) and the major outdoor music events (Electric Picnic, Marlay Park, Boucher Road Belfast, Malahide Castle, Musgrave Park).

Ticketmaster like to recruit from our students for the roles of Box Office Assistants due to the “passionate, skilled and talented student body there is there.” The majority of the work is in the evenings and at weekends (so it doesn't interfere with classes) and provides a great experience of the workings of the live entertainment sector, as well as a chance to earn money. This is customer service focused, helping fans who have any issues with their tickets (left them at home, arrived on wrong day, you name it).

Picture spending three months gaining invaluable A&R experience while furthering your artist development and research skills. Not bad, right? That's what happened for 11 students when we partnered with the ATC Management Team to launch the exclusive A&R Student Talent Scout Programme.

The chosen students had the chance to work directly with knowledgeable and experienced managers at ATC and learn the A&R process. They liaised with ATC's core A&R teams and managers, took part in educational workshops, and received mentorship through management meetings and breakout listening sessions.

Working in A&R and management at such an organic level like this is an excellent way for students to network and keep up with new trends. It's part of what we do to help muster the experience and industry understanding that's key to your development and progression.

Our Creative Futures Team offered our students an extraordinary internship with the Irish Music Rights Organisation (IMRO). Here, we hear from Conor Dwyer on what the internship involved and how it has helped him with his journey in music:

“I worked in the Membership and Marketing department, so I spent a lot of my time liaising with members, answering queries, and processing new member applications. I also researched various ways through which we could improve our social media strategy and reach a wider audience, which was a great on-the-job learning experience!

“This opportunity really expanded my knowledge of the music industry by allowing me to see how a collection society like IMRO works up close, and letting me play a small part in the massive international system that makes sure songwriters get paid what they're due. As a songwriter myself, that was very important to me, and it was an experience that I won't soon forget.”

Work experience and career stories

Our dedicated Creative Futures Team are here to advise and support you all the way while you concentrate on doing what you love. They've got the contacts and expertise for you to achieve greatness and your career goals. They're also here to offer friendly and flexible services, such as one-to-one career planning, CV advice sessions, mock interviews, career seminars, BIMM Connect (our online platform for jobs and placements), and so much more.

We work together to offer work placements, graduate internships and job opportunities at some of Europe's most reputable music companies. By providing you with these incredible connections and real-life experiences, you'll gain valuable and relevant insights to support your career in music.

With our impressive reputation, prospective employers know our students are not only industry-ready, but they're workplace-ready too. Now, it's your turn to be a student, practitioner and creator in today's vibrant, diverse and world-leading music industry.

Discover our students' and graduates' work experience and career stories opposite. These are just some of the ways our supportive Careers Team and staff have expanded students' experiences, network, and career prospects.

Luke Kavanagh

Events Organiser,
The Grand Social

"While studying the BA (Hons) Music Business undergraduate course I was introduced by Ann Marie Shields, Head of Careers, Industry Liaison and Events, to the venue manager of The Grand Social. I have since been employed as part of the booking team. My role involves working on booking, production, and the rest. The module content from just my first year has assisted me immensely in being prepared and consistent in this role.

Most recently, I have been employed by MCD, the biggest promoter in Ireland. I was then invited to their music conference in New York in 2023 as a delegate representing my own label Egg Twelve Records."

Finn McCarthy

Booker, Button Factory Dublin

Finn McCarthy studied bass, and graduated in 2022. Today, he is the venue Booker for Button Factory & Crowbar Terrace, the Tour Booker at Homebeat and Production Manager at Another Love Story festival. He is also continuing to stay active in bass playing and tour management with several songwriters.

"In the year after graduation I was fortunate to sample many roles via freelance work, this really helped broaden my understanding and prepare me for employment. My time at BIMM really taught me the value of organization and exploration, and how creativity applies to non-musical situations. I'm very much looking forward to staying connected with the college, in the hopes I will be able to assist others in the way that they have assisted me."

Cat Doran

Voiceover work at RTÉ Radio

"The Careers Team put me forward to work with RTÉ on voiceovers for the radio. Working in the studio at RTÉ was a fantastic experience, and I loved working with the radio team over there.

I was hired to do variations of all the announcements for the different shows on RTÉ radio, such as the Tara Stewart show, the Dan Hegarty show, news segments, and many more.

It's one of the best experiences I've had recording, and I can't wait to go back."

Many of the artists, industry professionals and businesses we partner with choose our fantastic scholarship winners. Imagine having the likes of IMRO and Dermot Kennedy select you? When asked how he felt choosing our scholarship winner, Dermot Kennedy said: “I’m particularly excited about choosing the recipient and hopefully helping them on their own musical journey and in creating their own story. I’m so, so excited to have this scholarship awarded in my name, in the same town where I fell in love with music, played my first show, and found my way through a life in music.”

Niamh Murray

Winner of the Dermot Kennedy Scholarship Foundation Diploma in Professional Musicianship

"I'm so excited and honoured to have received this scholarship. Being able to study songwriting at BIMM has been a dream of mine and so to be given this scholarship is just an unbelievable thing to have happened in my life. I can't wait to get started."

Peacemore Magonya

Winner of the Bohemians FC BA (Hons) Commercial Modern Music Scholarship for Direct Provision

"The Scholarship means I can finally get to pursue my dream of doing music more professionally. It is a great opportunity as I will be studying at BIMM, one of the best colleges in Dublin. This will be a great opportunity for me as a musician to develop my talent in a world-class environment."

Eva Carolan

Winner of the RTE 2FM Scholarship Foundation Diploma in Music & Audio Production

"Receiving this scholarship from BIMM is an incredible honour and a dream come true. It means the world to me, as it not only validates my passion for the music industry but also provides me with the opportunity to further my education and make a meaningful impact within this dynamic field. This scholarship is not just a financial support; it's a recognition of my dedication, and I am immensely grateful to BIMM for believing in my aspirations."

John Waldron

Winner of the IMRO Scholarship Foundation Diploma in Music Business

"I am so happy to have been awarded the 2FM scholarship for the Diploma course in audio production at BIMM.

It's a scholarship award that I don't take lightly. I have worked hard over the last few years and although life doesn't always reward such endeavors, I am over the moon that some potential has been seen in my work. I have grown up listening to 2FM presenters and DJs and the station has provided me with a lifetime of inspiring music, new and old. I am looking forward to learning and interacting with fellow students and tutors at BIMM and it is my intention to hit the ground running and work hard."

Scholarship winners

Sinéad O'Connor BA Commercial Modern Music Scholarship - winner Emily Radke - AKA Emileo

Everyone at BIMM Music Institute Dublin was deeply saddened to learn of the passing of Sinéad O'Connor in July 2023.

In 2020, we were honoured to work with Sinéad in setting up the scholarship in her name, which enabled a student to study for an honors degree free of charge.

Sinéad was a legend and an icon and all we can say is: Thank you. Thank you for the music, the astounding vocals, for being an inspiration, and for helping to wake Ireland up.

The recipient of our Sinéad O'Connor Scholarship was Emily Radke - AKA Emileo. Born in Berlin in 2000, Emily moved to Spain at 16 before heading south to the mystical terrain of Morocco before winning the inaugural scholarship here in Dublin, the city where she currently lives and writes.

Here's what Emily had to say about receiving the great news:

"I will never forget how the world collapsed over me when I got the call that Sinéad O'Connor had chosen me for her scholarship. As if I was suddenly taken to a surrealistic neverland and for a moment I found myself in the most wonderful in-between. The second time I got carried away into this overwhelming place, she was there with me. Sinéad was sitting beside me. There was so much love in her. I can only try to express my gratitude to BIMM for having gifted me these outer-worldly moments of elation. The light that Sinéad gave to me will forever be part of me."

Masterclasses

We have some of the music industry’s most prolific names at our fingertips. Plus, we have the connections to get them in front of you at our legendary and exclusive masterclasses.

Prestigious performers, producers, promoters and music professionals give our students expert advice and crucial insider insights that you won’t find anywhere else.

You’ll experience live demonstrations, Q&A sessions and even surprise live performances from global industry icons, current chart-toppers and the names who have made it big.

bimm.ie/masterclasses

“Make music your language, so when you press play, you have the confidence to say: Stormz, I’ve got beats.”

STORMZY

“[When making Let’s Dance with Bowie], I said: ‘David, did I make it too funky?’ And he went: ‘Nile. Is there such a thing?’ That is the best answer ever.”

Nile Rodgers

“The goal has always been to agitate. I want to represent something beautifully deranged and damn near god awful.”

Josh Homme

"[Each Glastonbury], we're all working towards something better and more magnificent."

Michael Eavis

"I'm excited about the potential of being able to figure out how to help our music industry and a future music ecosystem that's sustainable."

Imogen Heap

"So much of this is about your gut. Trust your gut in your writing, trust your gut in your performing, in the people you work with... trust your gut in the trains that you'll hop on and the opportunities you'll turn down."

Hozier

"You do just have to write how you feel at the time. I think happiness is as strong a feeling as sadness, so you should indulge in both if you're getting creative with it."

Lianne La Havas

"Write what you like, don't be sentimental about your mistakes, and follow your infatuations. Give yourself a brief and go for it."

IDLES

Our network

Joining BIMM Music Institute Dublin means connecting with industry giants, prolific lecturers and incredible alumni.

Lecturers

Paul Gilgunn

Paul is a musical artist and scholar. As a composer and producer, he is fascinated with creating new musical representations that address subjectivity. Paul has collaborated and performed with Rhys Chatham, Tony Conrad, David Daniell, and many more. He is currently producing electro-acoustic works after undertaking residencies with electronic artists Jlin, Kode9, and Laurel Halo.

As an educator and researcher, Paul’s areas of interest include contemporary audio culture, collaboration, cultural theory and philosophy, musicology, performance, popular music, post-1945 composition, and underground music.

Adam Taylor

Adam Taylor is a third-generation bass player and has a reputation for being one of Ireland’s top bass and music theory educators.

Adam’s work as a freelance bass player and music educator is exemplary. He’s played with a wide variety of artists and performers, such as Jason Donovan, Midge Ure, Wallis Bird, Hozier, Zaska, and many more.

Adam has also worked extensively in musical theatre as a pit musician, performing a wide variety of shows, including Evita, Sweeney Todd, Sister Act, The Addams Family, and more.

At BIMM Music Institute Dublin, Adam’s teaching in the Music Theory department focuses on arrangement, composition and advanced music theory.

Dr Gregory Jackson

Gregory is an early-career researcher whose work focuses on critical pedagogy, qualitative and practice-based research methods, and contemporary continental philosophy, specialising in the thought of Martin Heidegger. Gregory researches and teaches qualitative research methods more broadly and practice-based research methods. He completed his PhD in Philosophy at Maynooth University, where he later taught philosophy.

Gregory also co-hosts the podcast Two Philosophers Drink Beer and Discuss Film and is a public performer (Gregory David Jackson) of stand-up philosophy and performance art.

Tully Gunawardhana

Tully Gunawardhana is a multi-instrumentalist, songwriter and producer. He has 20 years of music industry experience and was classically trained on cello and piano at the The Royal Irish Academy of Music.

Tully has been a lecturer since 2013 where he currently teaches many Songwriting modules, holding a postgraduate certificate in Teaching and Learning from the University of Sussex.

Tully co-wrote the radio and chart-topping hit 'All The Others' with The Coronas, which was nominated for 'Choice Music Song of The Year'. Recently, Tully has written, produced and composed music for TV commercials for brands such as Sony Playstation, among others.

Alan Duggan

Alan has been involved with the independent music sector in Ireland for the last 10 years. He plays guitar in Dublin noise rock group Girl Band, who have played all across Ireland, Europe, UK, Russia, North America and Japan. The band are signed to Rough Trade Records, published by Domino Publishing Co. Alan’s first-hand industry knowledge comes from managing and tour managing the band.

Alan has also worked with First Music Contact for their industry showcase festival Ireland Music Week. Alan oversees the running of numerous business modules within BIMM Music Institute Dublin.

Stephen O’Brien

Stephen is a member of the band Hal, who were signed to Rough Trade Records. Their eponymous debut album was released to critical and commercial acclaim, charting in the Irish Top 10 and the UK Top 30. The album was awarded a European Border Breakers Award (EBBA) for the most debut record sales outside of their home nation.

Stephen toured worldwide and enjoyed extensive television and radio promotion all over Europe, performing headline and support shows with Doves, Grandaddy and Brendan Benson. Along with recording other artists such as Fionn Regan and Cathy Davey, Stephen also writes commercial music for TV shows that have aired on RTÉ and Disney.

Johnny Boyle

Johnny has been playing drums since the age of 12 and joined his first band when he was just 14. Since then, he's played, recorded and toured with many notable artists, including Andy White, The Frames, Marianne Faithfull, Pugwash, LiR, The Duckworth Lewis Method, Mundy, Damien Rice, Neil Hannon, Finbar Furey and Don Baker.

Over the course of his career, Johnny has made television appearances with Elton John, Ronan Keating, Westlife, Atomic Kitten, Sophie Ellis-Bextor and Shayne Ward. He's also played on many movie soundtracks, including those for I Went Down and Once.

Ray Boyle

Ray began his career in the '90s as lead guitarist and songwriter in the band The Ultra Montanes. They signed to Sony indie label Lakota and released an album and several singles. He later studied classical guitar, completing his Recital Diploma at Trinity College of Music London and his Licentiate in Classical Guitar Recital.

Ray has collaborated and played with a broad range of artists, including Babyshambles, Suede and the virtuoso violinist Cora Venus Lunny. He's been musical composer and arranger for theatre productions and has scored several animated shorts and projects for the Dublin Fringe Festival. Drawing on his wide-ranging knowledge of styles and techniques, Ray has been a guitar tutor since 2006.

Ollie Cole

Ollie works in the music industry as a solo artist, commercial songwriter, producer and film music composer. He was the singer, songwriter and main guitarist for the three-piece rock band Turn, who signed to Infectious Records, home to Muse, Ash and Garbage. Turn enjoyed great success, playing sell-out gigs at festivals and venues all over the country. Turn released three Irish Top 10 albums and were nominated for the coveted 'Choice Music Award' in 2005.

Ollie has since released three critically acclaimed solo albums. The Irish Times gave his first solo album, We Albatry, 5 out of 5 and made it their album of the month. His other solo album, Father, Brother, Son, was album of the week for RTE, The Irish Times, and Newstalk.

Paul Moore

Paul has been a member of the Van Morrison band for 15 years and has appeared on five of his albums. He also worked exclusively with Riverdance for four years between 1998 and 2001 and was the Musical Director for two of those years. Paul has recorded with Mary Coughlan, Christy Moore, Paul Brady, Katie Melua, and more. He has also performed live with Andrew Strong, Eddi Reader, Hayley Westenra, Paul Brady, and Sinead O'Connor.

Paul is the first-call bassist for the RTÉ Concert Orchestra and Electric Bassist for the RTÉ National Symphony Orchestra. He has recorded movie soundtracks with Mike Batt, Stephen Warbeck, Frank Patterson, Conor McPherson and Irish Film Orchestras.

Evelyn Finnerty

A dynamic BIMM graduate with a passion for music, Evelyn completed her music education journey at BIMM Music Institute Dublin studying vocal performance, where she honed her vocal talents and instrumental skills. Known for her exceptional versatility as a vocalist, she has become a sought-after talent in the Irish music scene, having gigged all over Ireland with various cover & function bands for many years, as well as joining the Bronagh Gallagher band as a backing vocalist.

With her deep-rooted connection to BIMM, she has now come full circle, teaching the next generation of aspiring musicians and sharing her wealth of knowledge and experience at the college.

Shelley Bukspan

An American/Israeli singer, songwriter and performer, Shelley has been part of the Irish music scene since 1986.

As a frontwoman and solo artist, she's performed at many events and festivals, including CMJ New York and the Montreux Jazz Festival, among others. She's also appeared on TV and radio shows both in Ireland and abroad, including in sessions for the BBC, with the RTÉ Concert Orchestra and more.

Award-winning alumni

The people who inspire you now once stood in your shoes.

For 40 years, we've prepared students for a bright future in the music industry. Grammy and BRIT Award winners, Mercury Prize-nominated artists, agency heads, songwriters, international booking agents and many more have walked into our colleges and out into a fulfilling career.

We're proud to have some of the industry's most successful professionals among our alumni. And we're excited to help you become one of them.

Award-winning alumni

George Ezra

George Ezra joined BIMM Music Institute Bristol in October 2011 to study songwriting. Less than a year later, he signed to Columbia Records and inked a publishing deal with BMG/Chrysalis.

2015 saw George nominated for an astonishing four BRIT Awards: British Breakthrough Act, Album Of The Year, Single Of The Year (for ‘Budapest’) and Male Solo Artist. George gave a brilliant performance of his single ‘Budapest’ at the BRIT Awards to a packed crowd at the O2 arena in London.

Ezra’s third studio album, Gold Rush Kid, was released in June 2022 on Columbia.

Niamh Kavanagh

Niamh is a talent management and events professional with over seven years in the entertainment industry working with various Irish festivals, NK Management, the Button Factory and TikTok. She has recently taken up a contract working as Global Associate Manager at Spotify, managing live experiences for Spotify itself, artists and Spotify’s brand partners across the globe.

“Studying at BIMM was a pivotal step in my journey. It equipped me with the skills to excel in the music and events industry. BIMM provided invaluable exposure to both the business and performer sides of the dynamic entertainment world.

This dual perspective cultivated a unique understanding of the industry’s intricacies, enabling me to thrive in high-pressure environments.”

Gemma Bradley

Gemma Bradley is the go-to for the best new music coming out of the UK and Ireland. She currently hosts Radio Ulster’s ATL Introducing and until recently she hosted Radio 1’s BBC Introducing show. She is known for her warm and fun energy on air and has rapidly become one of the most exciting young broadcasters in the country.

Gemma is also a songwriter and artist in her own right. She embraces her favourite aspects of pop music and meshes them with the finest, hand-picked sounds from R&B and Soul to create her own distinctive brand of sweet and delicious Pop – RnB.

When asked about her time at BIMM Music Institute Dublin, Gemma said: “BIMM really helped shape me as a musician and as a young creative. I believe I wouldn’t be where I am now if I hadn’t attended.”

Fontaines D.C.

Shortly after graduating from BIMM Music Institute Dublin, Fontaines D.C. signed with the highly revered Partisan Records. The band’s debut LP Dogrel was released to critical acclaim in April of 2019, reaching no.4 in the Irish album chart and no.9 in the UK. Later that year it was selected as Album Of The Year by Rough Trade and BBC 6 Music.

Their second studio album, A Hero’s Death, entered the UK and Irish album charts at no.2 and in April 2022, their third album, Skinty Fia, soared to no.1 in the Official Album Charts in the UK and Ireland.

Peter Walsh

Peter Walsh studied vocals at BIMM Music Institute Dublin and graduated in 2016. Today, he is Director of Sync, UK & Europe at Ultra International Music Publishing having previously been Senior Creative Synchronization Manager for the UK and Europe at Ultra Records. Ultra publishes songs with Post Malone, Kanye West, Katy Perry, Rihanna, Drake and many more.

After graduating, Peter headed to New York to intern with Downtown Music Publishing. Only seven months later, he was moving to London as their new Creative Associate. “The lecturers are a huge resource to draw from,” Peter says. “They have years of anecdotal music industry experience that we can all learn and draw from so sit down with them, ask questions and learn.”

Ciara O’Connor

“I can trace almost every job I’ve ever had in the industry back to someone I’ve met in BIMM,” says BIMM Music Institute Dublin vocalist graduate Ciara O’Connor – whose latest jobs have included touring with Dua Lipa, as her backing vocalist as well as with Jessie Ware, Niall Horan, Rina Sayawama, and even Elton John himself. Ciara was asked to tour with Dua Lipa (who made history as the first British female artist to claim five BRIT Award nominations) after sending through her CV and rehearsal video. Now, she performs to thousands on arena stages.

She explains how life at BIMM Music Institute played a considerable role in her artist development: “I certainly apply vocal techniques and disciplines I learned in BIMM Institute to this job, especially vocal blend.”

Our city

Take a tour of our city and soak up the sights.

Dublin

Music in Dublin is a vital, living part of the city's identity. There are venues on every corner, from iconic arenas to atmospheric bars. A stroll around Dublin is like a musical history tour. From the musical hub of Wexford Street to The Workman's Club – venues run by music fans for music fans – the soundtrack to Dublin is as varied as it comes.

Study in Dublin

Music is at Dublin's very core. Every night of the week you'll hear the sound of live music pulsing across the city. You'll hear international acts at the 3Arena and The Academy, or local bands, DJs and artists – many of them studied with us – on stage at one of Dublin's hundreds of legendary venues, bars, pubs and clubs.

Open mic nights are also big across the city – and a fantastic way to showcase your new material, network and check out local new music. Our favourite weekly nights are Apollo Sessions (The Bleeding Horse pub), Circle Sessions (The International Bar) and Zodiac Sessions (Bruxelles Bar).

Music venues:

- Whelan's
- The Workman's Club
- The Sound House
- The Grand Social
- The Olympia

Festivals:

- Longitude
- Ireland Music Week
- Forbidden Fruit

Outside of the thriving music scene, you'll never be short of things to do in Dublin. Explore the city's teeming nightlife, relax in the cosy cafés, bars, parks and restaurants, and immerse yourself in the country's history and culture in Dublin's many museums and galleries.

“Dublin itself is a city that's filled with history. From ancient Viking settlements to mythological sites, there seems to be a story on every corner if you look hard enough. The city also offers a lot of diversity, and with that comes all sorts of music, food and people that help make Dublin a city full of interest.”

Campus life

From wellbeing to student clubs and everything in between... BIMM Music Institute is so much more than your course.

BIMM is belonging

As well as connecting you to the industry, a big part of what we do is connecting people. You'll find like-minded souls with similar passions and goals to you in an inspiring environment.

We offer plenty of opportunities for you to connect with others both in and away from your college. You'll have the chance to meet lifelong friends, make invaluable connections and build your own experience. You can tailor our events and extracurricular activities to suit you.

Life at BIMM Music Institute is about becoming part of it all. Together, we can make your time here an unforgettable one.

Gigs and events

Being at BIMM Music Institute isn't about catching 40 winks in a stuffy lecture hall. We run incredible and inspiring events throughout the year so that you can network and put what you've learnt during your course into practice. Our gigs and events are also perfect for finding your people, mixing with new friends and fully immersing yourself into BIMM life.

Your calendar can be as rammed as you want it to be. Our events include Freshers' Week, masterclasses, industry panels, and so much more. And to complement our college-based events, we have taken some of our gigs, events and masterclasses online so that all of our locations can get together, share their knowledge and enjoy a collaborative experience.

Speaking of collaborative experiences, live music has and always will be a vital part of the industry. So, you'll have the opportunity to help stage, play and promote regular student-run gigs at renowned city venues. You'll also have the chance to get stuck in with our end-of-term gigs. These showcase musicians, bands and songwriters at events across all our locations.

Aside from performances, our live music activity means you can hone your skills in other industry areas. We also collaborate with the Ireland best promoters and events,, so you'll be able to work in roles such as artist hospitality, promotion, stage management, music marketing roles, and so much more when the opportunities arise.

It's all happening here.

"My highlight at BIMM so far has to be the end-of-term gigs in my first year. I've had [other] opportunities through BIMM that are probably career highlights, but I will always remember the first year and the life-long friends I've made through the end of term gigs. Everyone's excited, having fun and encouraging – good, times."

Industry Engagement

We work closely with our industry partners and we understand what employers need: broad and flexible skills, high-quality work experience and a network of contacts. You will develop all these and more during your time with us, supported by your lecturers and careers teams.

We are proud to have outstanding careers and industry professionals in every college who are dedicated to helping students find the opportunities best suited to their career goals. The friendly and flexible services include:

- One-to-one career planning tutorials with a professional careers adviser
- CV advice sessions with music industry recruitment specialists
- Opportunity to mix with industry professionals in careers seminars
- Mock interviews with major record labels, agents and recruitment companies
- Dedicated assessment centres for graduate internships agents, promoters and festivals
- Access to BIMM Connect – your online platform for jobs and placements, building a network of contacts and developing projects
- Access to advice from our active alumni community
- Masterclasses from the world's most successful industry professionals – with live sessions, expert advice and industry insight

You will be encouraged to think big and take risks. Employers want to see that you can demonstrate your passion for music, which is why all BIMM students learn by doing.

You can run record labels, promote live gigs, produce TV shows, write blogs, run social media campaigns for artists and brands and develop entrepreneurial ideas.

Our students have also performed at or secured work experience placements with leading festivals and businesses in the music industry, such as:

- Irish Youth Music Awards
- RTÉ 2FM
- IMRO Sony Music
- Universal
- Warner Music
- Glastonbury
- Liverpool Sound City
- The Great Escape

Every aspect of the music industry is open to our students to get involved, we thrive on encouraging a community of learning.

Every day our students are out there making something happen. What will you make happen?

BIMM Connect

Connecting you to the industry and with like-minded people is at the centre of BIMM Music Institute Dublin. With BIMM Connect, our free online social network, you'll connect directly to the BIMM community, helping you grow your professional, supporting network and access exclusive opportunities.

BIMM Connect is home to Europe's largest private community of music students and graduates, as well as members from across our partner faculties: ICTheatre, Screen and Film School, Creative Technologies and Performers College. It joins our communities across music, film, screen, and the performing arts, linking you to fellow musicians, industry creatives and businesses via the app or your desktop. All you have to do is reach out and get the ball rolling.

With BIMM Connect, you can get inspired, post about and find gigs and events, talk to people, set up groups, run projects, get advice, access resources, list your business or service, and apply for work experience and fantastic career opportunities. And, once you graduate, you keep access to the site for life, joining thousands of other alumni with ongoing access to exclusive events and content.

With over 8,000 users from across our student, alumni and staff communities, BIMM Connect allows you to become part of something bigger.

Meet the graduates

"I feel the most valuable thing that BIMM gave me was time to zone in on my songwriting craft, alongside people who were trying to do the exact same thing at the same time. That is such a crucial thing when working in the arts - community and support around what you're trying to do. My time there also led to so many work opportunities that I don't think I would have been offered otherwise - I was playing shows, festivals, and showcases within my first year of college. Not many other college courses enable you to work in your chosen field while still studying - that was really beneficial to be building my CV from the very beginning."

Maria Kelly

Maria Kelly's world of delicately woven alt-folk is laced with sincerity. Growing up in the West of Ireland, Maria found comfort in artists like Feist, Adrienne Lenker, and Lucy Rose, and developing a sound that is as delicate as it is disarmingly frank.

Maria's debut album 'The Sum of The In-Between' garnered support from Irish and UK radio/press, hitting 10 million radio impacts within its first few weeks. It now sits at more than five million streams worldwide, with one track, 'someone else' soundtracking the trailer for hit TV series Conversations with Friends.

Maria ended the era with a sold-out Irish & UK tour, an immersive album-exhibition, and performances alongside Kodaline, Orla Gartland, and Ailbhe Reddy.

Maria has shared stages across Europe with the likes of KT Tunstall, Billie Marten, and Villagers. As she finishes working on her sophomore album, Maria is plotting an acoustic tour around Ireland & the Netherlands, finding homes in small venues, theatres, or simply people's living rooms - the cosier, the better.

"Music inspires me because it is universal (as cliché as that sounds). It can hold such personal importance for people, but it is also to be enjoyed and celebrated communally. Carving out a career for myself in something that I am passionate about - off the back of studying and furthering my education in music - has been extremely fulfilling."

I am now the Audience and Campaign Coordinator for Warner Music Ireland and have been working there for the past 18 months. I work across digital account management and digital marketing. I have worked on some amazing projects during my time with Warner so far. These projects involved work with artists such as Dua Lipa, Ed Sheeran, Stormzy, Lizzo, Coldplay and many more.

I have always loved business and marketing. The Music Business modules at BIMM gave me a chance to further pursue that interest, which has led me to where I am today. The tutors who have excelled in their careers made it feel accessible, which in turn provided me with the confidence to persist. I loved how practical the course was and how varied the modules were. Learning from industry professionals who were able to share their experience with us was invaluable.

Networking was a huge part of life at BIMM. Relationships built with peers and like-minded people during my time there created a supportive and connected environment, which I still benefit from now.

I think hustle and passion go hand-in-hand. The music industry is tough and competitive and has lots of setbacks, but I use passion as my constant driving force. I knew it was never going to be the easiest or most conventional career path. You really need to dig deep sometimes as the hard work and graft never stop, but the progression, opportunities and rewards are always worth it."

"I began working as a session bassist for James Vincent McMorrow just before I graduated. This led to touring all around the world and playing iconic venues like the Sydney Opera House, The Roundhouse in London, as well as TV appearances on Jimmy Kimmel Live! and Later...With Jools Holland. For the last four years, I've been working as a session bass player and musical director with an array of Irish acts, including Sorcha Richardson, Ciaran Lavery, Lisa Hannigan, True Tides, Conor O'Brien, Hudson Taylor and many more. I am also working with a friend on a new electronic/dance music project called The Cope.

Practically every gig I've done in the last four years can be traced directly back to studying at BIMM. There's an automatic network built just by being on the course as you end up working with lots of different people. If you work hard, are on time and are nice to work with, your network will naturally grow.

Studying Bass at BIMM opened me up to so many different musical worlds and helped me to understand my instrument in a deeper and broader context, and greatly improved my musicianship in the process. It was during my second year of studies that I realised that being a session musician was a viable career path to aim for, and this became my main focus. I've also always had an interest in songwriting and producing, so being able to study modules relating to those topics was invaluable.

I really loved my time at BIMM; it was fun yet challenging and also gave me a really close group of lifelong friends. The biggest advantage I had from studying at BIMM was being able to draw upon the collective decades of experience that my lecturers had gained working in the industry themselves. You can't buy that kind of experience, so I found that to be vital.

The best advice I received at BIMM was to be open-minded and willing to change. You will grow both as a person and a musician if you are willing to experience things that are outside of your normal comfort zone. For example, if you're primarily interested in metal music, try working with a folk musician or a hip-hop producer. Be open to letting your guard down as this will help you find out exactly where it is you want to go."

"BIMM enabled me to access multiple classes, all relevant to the music industry. Some focus on live performance or songwriting, and some behind the scenes. Music business, publishing, and production classes all served me equally when entering the industry as a solo artist.

I studied Songwriting and launched the first round of ZAPHO projects when I graduated from BIMM in 2016. Since graduating, I've kept myself pretty busy, writing and recording a couple of albums' worth of singles, and co-founding new Irish platform The X Collective: a community of over 80 artists and creatives, of which nearly 30 members are BIMM students or alumni. It's a monster project that just took off when we launched during the pandemic. It was such a good feeling seeing the media and public response to our work; and the excitement of watching this project grow and function as we had hoped it would.

Some of my best friends and bandmates to this day are people that I was randomly paired up with in Live Performance Workshop classes. I've also made a huge body of music, collaborating mainly with BIMM students from songwriting, production, mixing, recording, photography, videography and other courses. You end up learning many skills beyond the world of playing.

The business and networking side of BIMM was invaluable. Networking within BIMM events, showcases, and in general college life, afforded me so many opportunities to get started and build the confidence I didn't have as a nervous 19-year-old in the first year. I seized opportunities to record music, play festivals abroad, and to gig at some of my favourite venues in Dublin (and throughout Ireland) with one of my lecturers and favourite Irish artists, Cathy Davey. Learning from people that all started where we did is invaluable.

My advice to you is to surround yourself with people who think like you; find other people that are talented and join forces. If you're not good at something, find someone who is. If you're a writer, make music every day; everything you make now is fuel for your future catalogue."

"I am currently working in operations for the UK Official Charts and also coordinate the Official Irish Charts. Music is the one thing that will always be there for you. No matter your mood, there will be a melody, lyric or beat to accompany that feeling. I have always been interested in how music can affect our wellbeing, regulate our emotions, trigger certain memories, encourage movement and social interaction, among so many other things.

BIMM is an exciting hub of like-minded people who want to collaborate and learn from each other. Learning from industry professionals means you graduate with current and relevant industry knowledge and are well equipped to start your career in whatever facet of the industry you choose.

I started out doing performance-based modules, spent time studying performance anxiety (which sparked my interest in music science) and then chose to also focus on music business in my final years there. Above all, it's the life skills that you take from this course that are the best preparation for life after BIMM.

After graduating, I moved to London to study an MSc Music, Mind and Brain at Goldsmiths, University of London. While studying, I also took on an internship in an audio branding start-up, which turned into a full-time job as a music psychology researcher. I worked alongside agency creatives and composers to deliver music projects informed by science. I've also continued my love of singing with London Contemporary Voices, performing at the Southbank Centre and Union Chapel, and gig regularly in London.

Attending the Mercury Prize and the BRITs Awards were special moments. Having compiled the longlist of eligible artists for each Brit category, it was amazing to see how the show and performances came together based on that list. It's also an honour to be the person compiling the Irish Homegrown Chart each Friday, which showcases Irish talent and sheds light on the incredible, diverse talent we have in Ireland.

My advice to anyone thinking about joining BIMM is to just DO IT. They were some of the best years of my life so far, gigging in incredible venues and making friends for life. BIMM is a vibrant community that opens so many doors and, in return, always has a door open for you should you need advice after graduating."

"BIMM is helping me grow in confidence, meet peers who can help me grow, and who I've been privileged to be able to help sometimes too. It's put me in contact with seasoned professionals from across the spectrum of the Dublin music scene. I now know that these are waters I can traverse, and I'm not as intimidated as I was before. It's also helping me to be more patient. I know a career isn't built in a day, and BIMM has been valuable in showing me how to break down a career plan into actionable and measurable steps.

When I started at BIMM, I sat down in a room full of people I'd never met. We were all very different. And yet, before the year was half-finished, these became people I looked forward to working with every week. I went from a background of a straightforward alternative rock diet to co-writing R&B, blues, folk, and hip-hop songs.

The course helped me to become more humble - in a healthy way - as well as bolstered in confidence. Being surrounded by extremely competent fellow students helped keep me accountable for pushing myself to the next level. I found that the tutors were truly supportive, and had our backs every step of the way, helping us to develop a fairly broad set of skills needed to succeed in a really competitive industry. I made friends and connected with people with whom I've collaborated with, and will continue to work with in the future.

I've met a lot of people in the industry, especially since joining BIMM, who have inspired me. The other day, I had a tutorial with Philip Magee, a producer based out of Dublin (part of BIMM's Summer Series of additional Masterclasses and tutorials). He was so positive and encouraging - and brightened my whole day.

It's been heartening to meet people in the industry and realise that they're just inspiring hard-working human beings. These are people who see what they do as a way to connect with others, and a way for people to build each other up."

Our courses

Find out everything you need to know about our range of music courses.

The BIMM graduate

Why do BIMM Music Institute courses put you ahead of the rest?

Our graduates stand apart from the crowd in their abilities and skills. Thanks to a vast range of placement opportunities and in-depth industry involvement from day one, you'll be able to hit the ground running. Music Production

CAO code: TU 961
4 years full-time

If you are interested in creating music and sound and want to gain a degree-level qualification, and also fulfil your creative and commercial potential, then BA (Hons) Commercial Modern Music is the right choice to help turn your passion for music into a career.

This four-year programme aims to develop your technical approaches to music and sound production while at the same time progressing your career goals, using a deadline-driven project management approach.

We understand that the key component for music production is bringing a student's technical knowledge and creativity to real-world, live and studio settings. To also learn the fundamentals required to collaborate with others, work with artists, and record other musicians' sounds.

You'll also further hone your skills by receiving tuition in modules such as Music & Listening Skills which aims to develop critical communication and listening skills for music producers and Industry Toolkit where you will develop an understanding of the skills and knowledge needed to operate as an entrepreneur within the modern music industry. You will collaborate with both the songwriting and instrumentalist streams and will also have the opportunity to upskill in your own performance skills, through a range of optional modules, if you so wish. The degree is both academically, technologically and musically challenging, providing the perfect balance between practical and technical skills and theory and analysis.

You'll be part of a creative community of gifted writers, performers, critical thinkers and music industry professionals who you can collaborate and network with to help bring your talent to life.

Through a range of core and optional modules including (but not limited to) Live Sound Engineering, Creative Mix Techniques, Creating Sample Libraries, Digital Performance Skills, Sound Design & Writing for Media, Practical Learning & Teaching in the Creative Arts, Electroacoustic Composition, Game Sound & Music, Immersive Audio Techniques, Audio Postproduction, Interactive Music Applications, you can tailor the degree to fit your own personal goals.

Life with us will stretch you as a creative, a musician and performer depending on your interests. It will also inspire you as a fan, as you attend unique Masterclasses with some of the best producers, industry professionals and musicians in the world.

You'll also have the opportunity to audition for the BIMM releases and termly BIMM gigs.

Your course will culminate in either a Professional Project utilising academic research skills or Analytical Perspectives dissertation designed to investigate your chosen stream through key concepts and theories associated with cultural studies. This will give you a head start into the workplace and enhance an appreciation and understanding of your cultural and social environment.

So, what are you waiting for? To make your way as a musician, connect with us and we'll connect you to a life in music.

The key benefits of postgraduate study

Advance in your chosen career

Having a master's improves your career prospects. It gives you the depth of knowledge you might need to apply for advanced positions in your company or industry. People with master's degrees also earn more on average than those with only a bachelor's degree.

Learn flexibly and autonomously

You can choose to study full-time over 12 months or part-time over two years. Whilst we recommend committing to full-time study to benefit from feeling fully immersed in your work and research, we understand that you may not be able to put your career on hold or give up the day job.

Build your network

Our master's programmes also provide structured opportunities to work collaboratively with your peers within and across disciplines, making connections and building networks you can draw on in your future career. So not only does the BIMM experience welcome you into a community of like-minded creatives working in various areas, but our alumni networks, such as BIMM Connect, are also second to none, ensuring you can stay connected and continue building your network for a sustainable and fulfilling career.

Explore your interests in-depth

If you're reading this, you're probably someone passionate about the creative industries and your personal and professional development. A master's degree is the chance to dive deep into your chosen subject, exploring and experimenting in a nurturing developmental environment.

Develop the tools you need to change your career

If you're thinking of switching careers (or have a dream role in mind), a master's degree can help get you there. In addition, we welcome individuals with significant professional experience in their field who want to pursue an academic route or push themselves through exploring professional practice as research.

Become a leader in your field

On our master's courses, you'll be taught by the best in their fields; our staff are active practitioners, researchers, and scholars. Our master's courses are also designed to offer you opportunities to choose the focus of your learning and the work you will produce. And you'll have the opportunity to become a contributor in your chosen discipline, not just a learner.

MA Popular Music Practice

1 year full-time

Stand apart from others in your chosen field and lead the discussion in contemporary music with the MA Popular Music Practice.

This MA is for popular music practitioners – performers, producers, composers or entrepreneurs. You'll explore your own specialism within popular music that's in line with your personal career aspirations.

During your MA, we'll help you to turn your ideas into a reality. We'll introduce you to cutting-edge research and assist you with broadening your network within the industry.

Through five modules across the year, you will apply a theoretical lens to your own and others' professional practice. Drawing on contemporary research, you will be encouraged to actively investigate areas such as popular musicology, performance and composition, the music industry and entrepreneurship, and the application of technologies to practice. Your course will culminate in your Major Project: an extended piece of work that explores your chosen area of specialism.

Your contact time will be split between one-to-ones with a specialist from your field and lectures and seminars. Here, you will study alongside students from different disciplines and collaborate with your peers.

MA Popular Music Practice is a single qualification with a capacity to provide specialist-named awards including:

- MA Popular Music Practice (Entrepreneurship)
- MA Popular Music Practice (Performance)
- MA Popular Music Practice (Production)
- MA Popular Music Practice (Composition)

Entry requirements:

A degree (normally 2.2 or above) or significant experience in a relevant field.

Overseas students where English is not their native language may be required to meet a minimum English language requirement of an Academic IELTS 6.5. We require a minimum of 6.0 to be achieved in each band. Exceptions apply. Please contact dublin@bimm.ie for more information.

All applicants will be subject to interview and a portfolio may also be requested for Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL).

MA Popular Music Practice is a BIMM University degree.

MA Popular Music Practice

Year 1

- Semester 1 – Popular Music Practice & Research, You and the Popular Music Industry.
- Semester 2 – Popular Music & Technology, Exploring Collaborative Practice.
- Semester 3 – Major Project.

Foundation diploma courses

Springboard into your music career.

Our one-year foundation diploma courses are perfect if you are looking to build your portfolio and expand your knowledge of the music industry.

Many of our one-year foundation diploma students use a course as professional development to focus on their craft or as a springboard onto one of our undergraduate courses.

They provide the perfect opportunity to develop skills and grow links as a musician within one of the most musical cities in the world.

Foundation Diploma Professional Musicianship

Guitar, bass, drums, vocals and songwriting

If you're a musician striving to reach your full potential, but you can't commit to a full-time programme, then the Foundation Diploma Professional Musicianship can help turn your passion for music into a career.

This one-year practical and vocational course is ideal if you want to further your musical abilities on a part-time basis of 4.5 hours a week.

At BIMM Music Institute Dublin, we understand that live performance is the key to you becoming a great musician. So, you'll spend a lot of time working on your techniques and styles to help you develop and find your niche as a performer.

You'll receive expert guidance from your highly skilled lecturers, all of whom have had vast experience in the music industry and continue to be a part of the business today.

You'll also study music theory and the fundamental skills required to read and perform music notation and be introduced to the world of digital audio recording and production.

During your time on the course, you'll connect with like-minded fellow musicians for exciting collaboration projects and will get to plug into unique networking opportunities. These include masterclasses with global music industry professionals. You'll also have the opportunity to audition for the BIMM releases and the end-of-term gigs.

All in all, it's a fantastic part-time introduction to modern music and the industry that surrounds it.

The course will gain you 60 CATS credits at Level 4 in the National Framework of Qualifications for England & Northern Ireland.

This is equivalent to 30 ECTS credits at Level 6 on the Irish National Framework of Qualifications.

It's a great gateway to taking your first steps in a music industry career.

So, what are you waiting for? To make your way as a musician, connect with us, and we'll connect you to a life in music.

Accommodation

Dublin is a thriving student city with plenty of accommodation options to investigate.

It's very easy to get around, so wherever you choose, Dublin's great transport system will get you to BIMM. Plus, you'll never be more than five minutes from bars, shops and parks.

Whether you decide to live in a flat, a shared house or even on a part-board basis with a family, there's plenty to choose from (although they do fill up fast).

There are no halls of residence at BIMM Dublin, but our Student Support Team can offer a lot of guidance when it comes to finding suitable student digs.

Available accommodation includes:

- Dedicated student housing
- Private landlords
- House-share opportunities
- Part-boards with families

Students on BA (Hons) Commercial Modern Music are registered TU Dublin students and, as such, can use the range of services provided for students there, including the Accommodation Service. This service helps with finding accommodation and advice on all related matters. TU Dublin also has a number of halls of residence throughout the city of Dublin, some of which are located within walking distance from the campus.
